STORES OPEN FOR BUSINESS IN PITTSBURGH

'Golden Triangle' Hums As Business Establishments Resume After Shut-down By Strike

NEW CONTRACT READY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—(P)—Displaying "open for business" signs, large department stores and numerous smaller businesses reopened their doors today after a shutdown of nearly two weeks because of the city's still-continuing power strike.

The famous "Golden Triangle" business section, which has looked like a "ghost city" since the strike began Sept. 24, took on a semblance of its former self—accompanied by the "bang-bang" of newly-purchased power generators.

Between 60 and 80 percent of the stores employees reported for work despite the tie-up of street cars and bus transportation stemming from the power dispute. Some clerks walked to work and many were carrying their own lunches.

There was no early buying rush, store managers said.

Meanwhile a spokesman for the Duquesne Light Co. said company representatives would get their first look at a new union offer for settlement of a contract when they meet with federal conciliators today.

George L. Mueller, president of the independent union of about 3,200 power company employees, said details of the offer would not be disclosed until after the company sees it.

Another strike development was the announced closing of about a dozen parochial schools. Church authorities said lack of trolley service was the main factor. Public schools remained open.

While Pittsburghers struggled with strike inconveniences and federal conciliators sought peace, the revolt within the independent union's ranks gained momentum with the dissenting faction—estimated by its leaders at 700 members—joining the AFL-United Mine Workers Union District 10 and petitioning the National Labor Relations Board for recognition as a collective bargaining agency.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—(P)—The power strike is snuffing out street lights here at the rate of 20 a night, police reported today. They estimated that 1,063 have burned out already.

The downtown area, using carbon arcs is now the darkest section of the city, with an estimated 250 lamps out. This is more than 50 percent in this section.

Warren, O., Oct. 7.—(P)—Members of the CIO-Utility Workers Union walked off their jobs today at the Ohio Public Service Co. here in a strike which threatened curtail electrical power for Warren's 55,000 residents and 16,000 persons in nearby Niles.

Picket lines of unionists striking to support demands for an 18-cent hourly wage increase, fanned around the company's huge generating plant shortly after daybreak.

Boston Clouter Is Rumored In Trade

Boston, Oct. 7.—(P)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, was quoted by the Boston Traveler today as saying "it's a cinch I've been sold."

Williams has been the center of trade rumors for several days, but the Red Sox management had dismissed the reports.

"I expect an announcement within two weeks after the series ends," Williams was quoted as saying in a St. Louis dailies dispatch.

"Tom Yawkey told me not to pay any attention to the trade rumors," the story quoted him as saying. "They sound pretty sensible to me. I'll probably have to go to New York, because I'm the kind of a guy Larry MacPhail would want around. I wish it was Detroit."

Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(P)—A hot summer sun that sent the temperature into the high 70's greeted the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals today as they squared off in the second game of the World Series before another capacity crowd of 34,000 fans.

When Managers Eddie Dyer and Joe Cronin confirmed their selections of Harry Brecheen and Mickey Harris, a pair of left-handers, as starting pitchers, the few empty gaps in the centerfield bleachers were filling rapidly.

Although there had been a long bleacher line through the early morning hours, the "rush" seeped away.

Pilot Is Killed and Passenger Hurt in Forest Co. Accident

A Forest county man was killed and his 17-year-old companion injured late Sunday afternoon when the light plane in which they were riding crashed during a landing attempt near West Hickory.

Clinton Kuntz, 38, of East Hickory, owner and pilot of the plane, was instantly killed in the crash. Injured was William Hall, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Hall of East Hickory, RD. He is in the Oil City hospital where his condition is regarded as fair.

Hall received a fractured jaw, possible fractured ribs, possible fracture of the right elbow and he is also suffering from shock.

The plane, a Piper Cub, was badly damaged, the impact driving the front portion of the machine into the ground.

The accident occurred on the Joseph Lallach farm on Fleming Hill, about four miles northwest of West Hickory.

Friends stated that Mr. Lallach is also the owner and pilot of a plane and they understood that Kuntz was attempting a landing on the Lallach farm where he intended to visit the fellow-pilot.

No explanation could be given, however, for the accident. Patrolmen A. A. Vavrek and C. W. Irwin, of the Warren barracks of the state police were at the scene Sunday afternoon, and Vavrek left this morning for Oil City to interview the survivor.

The body was taken to the Haslet funeral home, Titusville.

Kuntz was the driver of the Cropp Hill school bus and was also employed as a mail carrier on the West Hickory-Endeavor route. He had taken up flying as a hobby some time ago and, friends said, had purchased the new plane about two months ago.

Kuntz was born January 21, 1908, at East Hickory, the son of George and Amelia Graffius Kuntz.

He was married December 9, 1932, at Punksutawney, to Daisy White, who survives.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Jack and Max Kuntz of East Hickory; his mother who resides in Punksutawney, and the following brothers and sisters: Dock Kuntz of Volentius; Russell Kuntz of Oil City; Ray Kuntz, Mrs. Dorothy Mahan and Mrs. Paul Kuntz of Punksutawney, and Mrs. May Mahan of Meadville.

The remains will be taken to the home Tuesday morning where services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with burial in Riverside cemetery at Titusville.

Pinchot Rites To Be Held At Milford Today

Milford, Oct. 7.—(P)—Ex-governor Gifford Pinchot, 81, one of the nation's leading conservationists and twice governor of Pennsylvania, will be buried today after funeral services here in the ancestral home town of the Pinchots.

Pinchot, who served as chief of the division of forestry under Presidents McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Taft, died Friday night in New York where he had been hospitalized the past week with leukemia. However, he had been ill several months before that.

A Republican was reported to have left Nurnberg for the vicinity of Stuttgart to visit relatives and friends. Military government authorities here said he had cleared with them and with the German police.

Of the other two acquitted defendants, Hans Fritzsche was staying at the home of friends in Nurnberg and his future plans were unknown. Franz von Papen, the other, still was waiting in the Palace of Justice jail for permission to enter the British zone in order to go to his old home at Stockhausen.

Attlee Awaits Truman Reply On Palestine

London, Oct. 7.—(P)—Informants at the residence of Prime Minister Attlee said today President Truman had not yet answered the British leader's last communication on Palestine and that the message "called for a reply."

Mr. Truman asked the British Friday to open Palestine at once to "substantial" Jewish immigration.

Arab leaders protested sharply. The Arab executive agency in Palestine termed Mr. Truman's statement a bid for Jewish votes in American elections next month. The Jewish agency welcomed the pronouncement.

A British foreign office spokesman declined comment on a declaration by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York that the immigration of Jews into Palestine must be merely 100,000, as Mr. Truman suggested earlier, but "several hundreds of thousands."

Attlee told the Arab executive organization, in a statement issued from Jerusalem, said "it is not possible for Arab countries under any circumstances to agree to any further Jewish immigration into Palestine."

No Further Concessions Over Trieste

Paris, Oct. 7.—(P)—Senator Tom Connally told peace conference delegates today the United States would make no further recommendations.

Connally (D-Texas) was the first speaker in general discussion on the Italian treaty as the conference went into plenary session under the chairmanship of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin for its final sprint of treaty drafting.

There were indications that the delegates would be compelled to sit day and night for the next eight days if they are to adhere to schedule and adjourn on Oct. 15 to avoid conflict with the impending United Nations general assembly session in New York.

Rules of procedure recommended by the Big Four foreign ministers council in an effort to speed action on the five treaties were swiftly adopted at a 45-minute plenary session yesterday, presided over by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who will preside again today.

Young Bride Dies On Way to Altar

Inwood, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(P)—What was to have been the happiest day of Rose De Fabrizio's life turned into tragedy yesterday as the pretty 21-year-old bride to be was dropped dead in a church aisle on the way to the altar.

The wedding march was being played and John Mastantuono, 20-year-old bridegroom waited in the vestry for the signal which would start the ceremony uniting him with his childhood sweetheart when she collapsed while walking up the aisle on the arm of her father, Louis.

Five hundred relatives and friends waited in the church of Our Lady of Good Counsel in this Nassau county community while a doctor and a 12-man fire department rescue team attempted to revive the girl. Cause of death was not known.

SMOKY CITY AREA HAS FOUR TRAFFIC DEATHS

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—(P)—A 19-month-old child, a woman and two children were killed in automobile accidents here over the weekend.

The child, Phyllis Glover of Pittsburgh, was struck by a car near her home and the woman, Mrs. Catherine Mehar, 41, of Pittsburgh, died of injuries received in a crash near Etna. The other victims, Luther Johnson, 24, and Jesse Hillard, 25, were killed when their light truck crashed through a guard rail and plunged down a ravine.

Builder of German Fleet Appeals to Have Sentence Changed From Life Imprisonment

HONORABLE CHANGE

Nurnberg, Oct. 7.—(P)—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, builder of the German fleet and one of three men sentenced to life imprisonment by the international military tribunal, has appealed to the Allied control council to change his sentence to death by shooting.

Raeder said his petition did not mean that he was pleading guilty as indicted but was prompted by his advanced age of 70 and the state of his health.

He told the Control Council: "The resistance of my body is very low and the imprisonment would not last very long."

Raeder, who was convicted on three counts of the indictment—common plan or conspiracy, crimes against peace and war crimes—said the verdict was the result of "a mistake in the way the prosecution handled the Norwegian case."

This mistake, he said, was due to political interests.

He emphasized he would welcome the change of sentence as more honorable and said: "I testify that I make this petition in fullest possession of my mental power and in complete control of my soul."

Flight Over Arctic Proven Practicable By Dreamboat

Cairo, Oct. 7.—(P)—The communications officer of the super-fortress Pacusan Dreamboat, which flew non-stop 10,925 miles over the Arctic Circle from Honolulu to Cairo, said today that commercial air service over the top of the world was practical from a communications standpoint.

Lt. Col. F. J. Shannon, called back to army service especially for the test flight from his job as engineer for radio station WCAU in Philadelphia, said high radio frequencies were blocked out repeatedly by sunspot fareups, but declared:

"If commercial airways decide to use this region as an air route, I believe they could have successful communications with a few well-placed low frequency radio stations."

Shannon pointed out in an interview that the shortest distance between many population centers was across the northern wastes.

The commander of the Dreamboat maintained meanwhile that the 276-mile-an-hour trip had proved the ability of the B-29 to "defend the United States over any part of the world."

Fresh Hopes For Settling Seamen Strike

Washington, Oct. 7.—(P)—Government conciliators, spurred by one union leader's prediction that a settlement may be near, pressed their efforts today to end the week-long maritime tieup.

Capt. Harry Martin, president of the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots, told newsmen in New York last night that "things look more favorable than at any time since negotiations started."

He said an agreement might be reached by tonight, but cautioned that if the stalemate runs through tomorrow negotiating committees of both his union and the CIO marine engineers beneficial association may leave the capital.

This lent a new note of urgency to today's renewal of the conversations after a two-day recess prompted by a fare-up of tempers on all sides.

Chief Conciliator Edgar L. Warren put off the sessions until 2 p. m. today in the hope that a weekend "cooling off" period might help crack the deadlock over wages and union security for AFL deck officers and CIO engineers.

Dealing with the unions are the east and gulf coast operators, on the one hand, and the west coast carriers, represented by the Pacific American Ship Owners Association, on the other.

In the middle is the Maritime Commission, which holds the balance of power in the merchant marine because so many vessels are under its contract.

Lolo Tribe Holds Survivors of Crash

Chungking, Oct. 7.—(P)—A friendly Lolo tribesman and a Chinese general's aide, the only two permitted by hostile natives to pass—were searching the wilds of western China today for an American pilot and 31 other persons reported held by Lolos since their Chinese airliner crashed Sept. 20.

Rifle fire drove off the search plane carrying a professional parachutist. He had hoped to locate the wreckage and jump in an effort to aid the crash victims—who reportedly had kept looking for help, for a time, with available aid.

The airliner crashed 60 miles south of Sichang, in the same general area in which the U. S. Army Graves Registration Service is making its own quiet search for five U. S. air forces crewmen believed captive of the Lolos for more than two years.

The airline pilot, Capt. Andrew Lungbotham, Pasadena, Calif., was the only American reported aboard the Chinese National Aviation Corporation plane.

SENTENCES IN ERIE WILL BE APPEALED

Erie, Oct. 7.—(P)—Counsel for Michael Bubna, 29, and his sister, Mrs. Millie Thomas, 26, prepared plans today for an appeal to the state supreme court on the Erie man's death sentence and the woman's life term in the March 4 slaying of Robert Fisher, 24, of Erie.

Bubna and Mrs. Thomas were sentenced Saturday after the Erie county court refused a motion for a new trial. The state contended they killed Fisher following a quarrel over dividing profits derived from selling stolen cars.

A third defendant, Michael Dominick, will be tried on a murder charge next month.

Two Highway Deaths

Middletown, Oct. 7.—(P)—A soldier and a civilian were killed, and another soldier and civilian seriously injured when an army staff car crashed into a bridge abutment at nearby Hershey late Saturday night. Authorities at Olmsted Field identified the dead men as Cpl. Joseph J. Manion, 30, of Harrisburg, and George Steck-

Army's Dreamboat Takes Off for Cairo

Roaring off the runway at John Rodgers Field, Honolulu, the Army's B-29 Pacusan Dreamboat heads north for its 10,300-mile non-stop flight over the top of the globe to Cairo, Egypt, where it landed safely thirty-nine and one-half hours later.

Search Jersey Marsh For Missing Youngster

Secaucus, N. J., Oct. 7.—(P)—Douglas Koenenmund, two, who disappeared Saturday after playing near the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Koenenmund, still was missing today after a two-day search of the marshlands in the area.

More than 200 searchers, aided by four two-place seaplanes, combed the deep ditches, swamps, and tall grasses yesterday without finding a clue to the youngster who wandered off while playing with his brother, Bernard, Jr., seven.

Campaign In State Enters Home Stretch

Harrisburg, Oct. 7.—(P)—With John S. Rice, Democratic candidate for governor, raising an issue of politics in the state game commission, and Attorney General James H. Duff, his Republican opponent, calling for the election of a Republican congress, Pennsylvania's election campaign today moved into its last four weeks.

Rice, in a speech at Tunkhannock, said the game commission chose "the middle of a heated political campaign as an appropriate time to announce a $6,000,000 ten-year program for Pennsylvania's sportsmen."

That, said Rice, "is politics—crude, old-fashioned Republican politics," and put the game commission "into politics up to its neck."

Duff declared in a statement released over the week-end, that since the war has been over for more than a year, wartime controls should be released.

In other developments J. Calvin Frank, who ran for secretary of internal affairs against the organization state in the primary, announced his support of the regular G.O.P. ticket.

Earlier in the week, his running mate on the "New Guard" Republican ticket, John T. Shroyer, former secretary of highways, came out for John Rice for Governor, but said he was remaining a member of the Republican party.

Chest Industrial Committee Many Injured In Is Organizing For Campaign

The industrial committee of the Warren Community Chest has started its busy campaign to organize all the larger companies in Warren.

At a meeting at campaign headquarters on Friday, each member of the committee was assigned certain companies to interview and arrange for contributions from the company its executives and employees.

Chester S. Allen, chairman of the committee, stated that Warren is particularly fortunate in having so many firms doing business in the Borough who are community minded. In other words, these firms realize how necessary the nine agencies comprising the Chest are to the well-being of Warren.

Pointing out that a country-wide survey showed that 34 percent of the amounts raised in raising her aides, they all came from gifts by corporations. He said that the time has come when corporate management in our many enterprises recognize that social obligations have become quite definitely necessary and irrevocably a legitimate part of the actual cost of doing business. What corporation would at-

MIAMI BOARDING UP

Miami, Fla., Oct. 7.—(P)—The entire west coast of the Florida peninsula was placed on an urgent alert today with hurricane warnings flying as far north as Cedar Keys as a vicious tropical storm with winds of more than 100 miles an hour bore into the Gulf of Mexico and placed Florida's $100,000,000 citrus crop in jeopardy.

The weather bureau said the present course of the hurricane will send it raining along the resort and crop-producing section of the west coast. The storm center which has veered slightly in its direction at least twice since it surged to hurricane strength, very likely will strike the coast somewhere between Fort Myers and Tampa.

At 11:30 a. m., the center was 130 miles due west of Key West. Top winds of 60 miles an hour at Key West began to diminish, and unless a radical change of direction develops, the Florida Keys and the rich Miami-Palm Beach "Gold Coast" will have anything stronger than heavy rainsqualls and moderate gales.

A record citrus crop is nearing harvest with some picking already going on, and a hurricane could wreak maximum damage on it at this time.

Wind whipping through the groves would knock off millions of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines which are well along development but not ripe enough for harvest. Most of those shaken to the ground now would be lost.

The storm gained in speed from 12 miles an hour yesterday to 15 to 18 miles an hour as it approached Florida today.

Hurricane warnings were displayed at Key Largo to Cedar Keys and storm warnings remained up over the entire Florida peninsula.

Miami prepared for winds up to 60 miles an hour but indications were that the city would miss the full force of the storm. Precautionary measures were taken to assure a plentiful supply of food stores in the city's 51 shelters if needed.

As the storm approached, native Floridians recalled the state's past disastrous hurricanes.

The 1926 storm hit the Miami area and crossed the state in the Lake Okeechobee region, killing 450 and injuring 6,000. Some 18,000 were left homeless. Proper damage in the Miami area alone was about $75,000,000 and elsewhere, $20,000,000.

Two years later another storm roared into Florida at Palm Beach and swept across the Everglades. More than 2,500 were killed as dikes holding back Lake Okeechobee broke, allowing the waters to sweep down on unsuspecting laborers in the rich vegetable country. The damage was estimated at $75,000,000.

1935 storm of small diameter ripped through the Florida keys killing 500 persons, many of whom were World War I veterans building the old sections of the overseas highway.

Hurricane warnings were extended northward along the Florida west coast to Cedar Keys and northeast storm warnings westward to Appalachicola, and on the Florida east coast northward to Fernandina.

As the storm approaches the Florida Keys, a fleet of Red Cross trucks, escorted by state highway (Turn to Page Nine)

Four On Seat Issue Before High Court

As an aftermath of the crash which took place near Kinzua in September 1944 in which a pickup truck was struck by a passenger car and four persons were injured a case is now before the State Supreme Court at Pittsburgh. The case is an appeal from a McKean county court award of $10,000 damages to Edith M. Anderson and two children, of Bradford and D. R. McClelland, of Kinzua.

It is alleged that the truck was hit by a passenger car operated by May Bowler and owned by Ellison Copeland, of Meadville. Testimony is that the Copeland car got out of control on a slippery road and crashed into the truck. In the appeal the fact that four persons were riding on the seat of the truck at the time of the crash is given as a contributory cause of the accident and it is asked that the award of the lower court be set aside.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs argued that the presence of the four persons in the truck did not hinder McClelland in his operation and in no manner contributed to the accident.

The court will file its opinion later and the case is being watched with much interest by persons in this section.

Meat Stampede Produces Brooklyn Casualty

After waiting in line for several hours, Raul Zerderane, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was knocked down and trampled by stampeding customers when Brooklyn's Fort Greene Meat Market finally opened its doors. Police had to clear a way through the battling patrons as the casualty, indicated by arrow, was carried to safety.

Newspaper Supplements The Schools As Education Force

Harrisburg, Oct. 7.—Thousands of Pennsylvania school children were invited to visit plants of the 500 daily and weekly newspapers in the state, as part of the observance of National Newspaper Week.

The invitation was extended by Stanley W. Calkins, Uniontown Newspapers, president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, who said, "As an educational force, the newspaper supplements the schools, and therefore we want the educational force of the newspaper supplements the schools, and therefore we want the young people to know what is back of their newspaper. We hope that they will learn early the value of a free press to the world and to each community."

In addition to plant visits by school children, members of local service clubs also will visit the newspaper offices in many places, the PNPA reported. Local newspaper meetings are scheduled for more than 250 communities.

The general theme for National Newspaper Week is Public Service and the slogan for this year is "A Free Press—Voice of Freedom, Guardian of Liberty."

Saturday, October 5, was observed as National Newspaper Boy Day under the sponsorship of the International Circulation Managers' Association.

Other organizations supporting the week's programs, in addition to PNPA, are the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, National Editorial Association, Associated Press, International News Service, United Press, King Features Syndicate, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Editor & Publisher, Publishers' Auxiliary, Advertising Federation of America and schools of journalism all over the country.

"Good government has no more powerful ally than the free press which we are privileged to enjoy," Governor Edward Martin wrote to the PNPA in a special National Newspaper Week message. He said in full:

"National Newspaper Week once more calls to our attention the outstanding services rendered the people of Pennsylvania by the daily and weekly newspapers published within its borders.

"The observance of National Newspaper Week is indicative of the strength and vitality of the free press of America and its vast contribution to the progress and greatness of our Republic. Good government has no more powerful ally than the free press which we are privileged to enjoy.

"Pennsylvania is proud of its newspapers and I am certain the citizens of our great Commonwealth will join in wholehearted and enthusiastic tribute to the press and its workers during National Newspaper Week.

A member of the Martin cabinet to stress the public service of the newspapers is David W. Harris, Secretary of Revenue, who said:

"The newspapers of America render a public service second to no other in value and importance. In my judgment, they form a mighty pillar in the foundation of our Republic. As a public official, I have had the opportunity of observing closely the tremendous potency of the press in constructive service to the people.

"Recently, the Governor called a safety conference to aid in combating the growing menace of traffic casualties. It was a great success and a large share of the credit for making it so belongs to the newspapers of our Commonwealth who cooperated.

"Without our newspapers, there would be civic blindness and such impairment of vision might well prove to be disastrous to our Nation."

Another cabinet member to comment on newspaper service is Floyd Chalfant, Secretary of Commerce, himself a newspaper publisher. Mr. Chalfant said that the newspapers had supported more worthwhile causes this year than ever before and he mentioned particularly the Pennsylvania Highway Safety Program. "Newspapers led in this campaign, as in so many others, with definite noteworthy results," he commented.

"Without the leadership and support of the newspapers, Pennsylvania Week would have lacked success. Yet these contributions, important as they have been, were secondary to the greatest contribution of all, the maintenance of a free press through the publishing and interpretation of the news of the world. It can be truthfully said the press is the safeguard and the hope of a free world."

Recruits For Company I Being Sought

This evening at the army on Hickory street Captain Joseph Shearer will be ready to receive further recruits to Company I, 112th regiment, P.N.G. Fourteen men have signed up so far and he is hopeful that 23 can be secured which will form the cadre around which the company will be built. Captain Shearer is confident that a number will be received into the company this evening.

He is making an especial appeal to 19 year olds who by enlisting in the company now will receive at least several months good training before they are drafted into the army. This, Captain Shearer said, will give the boys an opportunity to get the jump on the fellow in the army when they report for duty. The training will be sufficient to take them out of the "green rookie" class and enable them to win a non-commissioned officer's place in a short space of time. They will not only rate a higher pay, but will escape much unpleasant duty when they hit the regular army outfits.

Dig Another Grave

By DON CAMERON

Chapter 10

MARTIN grinned. "I'd like to know. She said her name was Mary Smith, but I didn't believe her, and I'm sure she didn't expect me to. She was pretty as a little red wagon and nicer than I usually prefer them."

"How did you meet her?" "She was having trouble with a guy who'd had too many drinks, in front of a joint on Bleeker Street near Sullivan. I walked her to Rosetti's place in Carmine Street and we had a couple of drinks."

"And then you went home?" "Yeah, I did. I haven't seen home yet. The girl and I found interesting things to talk about and I guess the drinks made us adventurous. I rented a car and we went to the Sound-of-the-Sea Club out past Port Washington. We didn't get back to town till after six, and right away we had that smash-up."

"She was scared stiff. She beat it while I was trying to find out how badly the other fellow was hurt."

Cloud tore a blank sheet from the notebook, wrote on it, and got up and opened the door. He gave the paper to the plump man in the brown suit.

Martin lit a cigarette and inhaled aromatic smoke. "Well, that's the alibi. Now don't you think you'd better tell me about the murder?"

The detective's eyebrows rose a fraction of an inch. "So you know there was one." "I know you didn't put a telephone number in my file and make a split-second timetable of my movements because you're writing my biography. In fact, I know practically everything — except who is dead, when and where and how he got that way, who did it, what reason, and why you're looking such a flattering interest in me."

Cloud's look was steady and searching. "Don't you know any of those things, King? Honestly?"

It was time to register impatiently, Martin decided. He stood up, threw his cigarette on the floor and crushed it with his foot. He said, "I want one of two things right away. I want to go home, or I want to call Max Lubin, the lawyer."

"You wouldn't be comfortable at home," Cloud told him. "Your apartment is full of cops and your bed is occupied by the corpse of a murdered man."

"A—what?" "A body. Richard Searle's."

"I guess you wouldn't kid about a thing like that."

"No, I wouldn't," Cloud said. "Well, you've heard all I can tell you. Will I need a lawyer?"

"Maybe. We'll see. Wait a minute."

THE detective left the room. He was gone perhaps two minutes, and when he came back Lee Dexter was with him.

"Dexter found the body," Cloud explained.

"I was trying to do you a favor. An old friend of mine, Doc Eagles, is assistant managing editor of the Chicago Dispatch. He was in New York not long ago and offered me a job out there any time I wanted it. I thought of it after you left with Doran last night and tried to phone you three or four times without getting an answer. So, being a bad sleeper, I wandered down your way early this morning to see if you felt like going West."

"I do right now," Martin muttered. Secretly he was pleased that Dexter had not mentioned his own phone call from Rosetti's. It meant that Dexter was on his side; and the debonaire newspaperman could be a loyal friend and a shrewd adviser.

Cloud asked, "What happened to the letters you got from Morrissey and Mrs. Messmer?" I phoned Doran and he's having photographs of them sent from the Record office, but I'd like to look at the originals."

Martin thought swiftly. "I took them home and put them in my bookcase for safekeeping, in a copy of Lawrence's Seven Pillars of Wisdom." That was true, as far as it went. "Morrissey asked for his letter back last night and I promised to return it."

"Morrissey can wait. Searle undoubtedly knew of them."

"I told him," Martin said.

"That might explain why he was at your place."

"And somebody else wanted them, too," Dexter put in. "That one followed Searle there and finished him. Find the person besides Searle to whom the letters were terribly important, and you'll have your assassin. Only I'd just as soon you didn't find him unless it's necessary to clear Marty."

Martin said unhappily, "by the way, how was he killed?"

"Tire iron," Cloud told him. "Somebody beat in his skull with it. The ends of the iron fit marks on the door and door frame where it was used to break the lock."

The plump man in the brown suit came in, put a sheet of paper on the table before Cloud and left without speaking. Cloud read what was written on the paper without changing expression.

I checked on the people who met with Searle in Morrissey's private office just before you socked him," Cloud said to Martin.

Martin said, "You've made me mighty conspicuous, Cloud. You've practically eliminated everyone except me."

Cloud sighed, throwing at the sheet of paper before him.

"You're eliminated, too, for the moment. Haggerty had your alibi checked. But we'll want to ask more questions before we're finished, so let me know where I can get in touch with you."

"Marty will be in my custody," Dexter said. "I have a suite at the Margrave, and if I'm any judge of the limits of human endurance he won't budge from my spare bed for quite a while."

In keeping with the principles of the preamble to their constitution to foster and perpetuate one hundred percent Americanism and to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, the local Post has placed new strength behind a program to build a much needed Community Center in town.

PALESTINE ABC

Here's an ABC on the Palestine problem as summarized by James Harlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington:
President Truman has shoved it into the headlines with his suggestion that Britain let a "substantial" number of Jews immigrate into Palestine now.
Jews and Arabs both claim Palestine as their homeland. The Jews had a kingdom there before Christ. It fell. The Jews dispersed. Through the centuries they continued to look upon Palestine as their homeland.
Some Jews remained in Palestine. But the Arabs, a semitic people like the Jews, lived there in greater numbers. Palestine was the heart of the Arab world.
Many nations held Palestine after the Jews' kingdom disappeared. Turkey had it at the time of World War I. Britain took it from her. The League of Nations gave it to Britain as a mandate.
Which means: Britain was to run it until some plan was found for letting the people living there run it themselves. The British began to let Jews immigrate there.
Thus, ever since Britain took over the country, has been a sore point with the Arabs.
They were in the majority in Palestine and they wanted to stay in the majority. They feared that continued Jewish immigration would put the Jews in the majority.

From the time the British took over, there have been many proposals for settling the Palestine problem. No solution has been found yet.
The Arabs say they have a greater claim on Palestine than the Jews because they've lived there longer. They want Palestine to be an Arab state. They don't want it broken up into Arab and Jewish state.
If it's an Arab state, they say they'll let Jews have full citizenship.
They argue that if a Jewish state were set up, soon the Jews would flow over into the neighboring Arab state, eventually outnumbering the Arabs.
The Jews, on the other hand, want a home in Palestine. They want it to be a state, even if it means dividing Palestine up into Jewish and Arab states.
And they want the British to let thousands upon thousands of homeless Jews in Europe immigrate there to safety and a home. Because of Arab opposition, the British have been holding down such immigration.
So the story which has been going on since 1917, when Britain took Palestine from Turkey, is still going on, still unsettled.
The British may have to turn the whole problem over to the United Nations since it received its mandate from the League of Nations, which no longer exists, and Arabs question Britain's right to continue the mandate.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

A good thing to remember in connection with National Fire Prevention Week, October 6 to 12, is that a blaze starts in an American home every two minutes on the average, day and night, all year round.
This is a warning issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in calling attention to the increasing threat of loss by flames. Destruction by fire in 1946 is highest in history.
With the housing shortage causing nationwide concern, these safety steps are recommended not only for Fire Prevention Week but for every week in the year:
Be careful with matches and smoking materials. Keep ash trays handy. Don't smoke in bed.
Be sure you have proper fuses in your boxes as "safety valves" for your electric system, and do not substitute fuses of larger amperage than your electrician advises—15 amperes usually is correct. Have all electrical work or extensions of wiring done by an expert electrician.
Do not look for gas leaks with an open flame. Call the gas company if you think you have a leak.
Keep candles or open lights away from combustible decorations and costumes—and warn smokers, too.
Clear out papers, rubbish, litter and discard items from attics, cellars and closets frequently.
Keep paint and oil rags or mops in tightly closed metal cans, unless you can dispose of them at once.
Place metal screens in front of fireplaces.
Empty hot ashes into metal containers instead of wood boxes or cartons.
Clean chimneys, furnaces, and stoves. Check them carefully and have needed repairs made. Call in a heating expert if your furnace is inefficient and does not provide enough heat.
Look for beams or partitions that are blackened by heat radiated from a furnace or stove. Safe clearance for hot parts of heating plant should be at least 18 inches. If this is not possible, insulate with asbestos.
Do not use gasoline, benzene or naphtha or other inflammable liquids for cleaning anywhere in the house, and do not store them.
Do not use kerosene to clean glass.

Willard Briggs has just been notified or has having been chosen as a junior member in the league of Curtis salesmen, an honor organization maintained by the Curtis Publishing Company for the boys who sell its publications.
When workmen began erecting the huge Warren Savings Bank sign, with alterations, atop the store of C. F. Bartsch, it was found that the great weight of the sign made it imperative that props be placed on the two upper floors of the building.
Mrs. William A. Greaves has arrived from a month's visit with her sister at Kansas City, Mo.
Mrs. W. J. Humiston, of Crescent Park, will leave tomorrow for a three week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kirberger, at East Orange, N. J. She will also visit New York City and the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia before returning home.

At a meeting of the school directors Friday night, it was suggested by Fire Chief Doug Kroft that four fire alarm boxes be installed in the four oldest schools in the borough during fire prevention week.
The streets and sewers committee, at the banquet at the Marconi Club Thursday evening at 7:00 originally planned for the members of the junior baseball team sponsored by the organization, will also include members of the Marconi baseball team, the house committee and members of the special picnic committees.
Mrs. A. B. Ledebur, 5 Water street has returned from a visit with friends in Washington, D. C., and Baltimore, Md.

Washington Daybook

By HOWARD DOBSON
(For Jane Eads)
WASHINGTON — Before they are old enough to say "frequency modulation" — let alone explain it — school children in large sections of the country are getting lessons by FM.
Six radio stations licensed in the non-commercial FM band are being operated now by universities and public school districts, and 16 more are being built. The U. S. Office of Education acts as a clearinghouse for information on setting up FM stations for schools.
The use of radio in education is about as old as radio itself. Engineering schools pioneered the first stations about the time radio grew up out of the crystal-set stage.
A short time before the war about 170 stations were being operated by private schools and public systems for educational broadcasts. Educators in three states — Connecticut, Ohio and Wisconsin — had seen possibilities in FM and had decided they could use it in their schools. The Office of Education got into it at this point, and creation of the Federal Radio Education Committee was a result.
THE program conceived by these first three states is the one now being followed all over the country. It is based on a statewide council representing public and private schools, educational groups such as teachers' associations and library commissions and some private institutions such as museums and art galleries.
The aim of the councils is to establish state FM systems, in which all schools and districts having stations can participate. Wisconsin already has such a system under construction, and plans are being completed in Virginia, Maryland and Connecticut.

THE six now operating are used directly for instruction in many courses. For instance, every school in Chicago can get a history lecture from WBEZ — or one school can put on a play over DBEZ for the other schools.
In addition, the stations function as a public service. A lecturer appearing in Cleveland schools can be asked to broadcast over WBOE, and everybody in the city having an FM radio set can hear him.
The other operating stations are: WNYE, New York City Board of Education; KALW, San Francisco Board of Education; WIUC, University of Illinois, Urbana, and WEKY, University of Kentucky, Lexington.
These stations are under construction: State University of Iowa, Iowa City; University of California at Los Angeles; Buffalo Board of Education; Kansas City Public School District; University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Newark, N. J., Board of Education; Columbia University, New York; University of Oklahoma, Norman; Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge; Oklahoma A & M College, Stillwater; Detroit Board of Education; Wisconsin State Radio Council (two stations at Madison); Sacramento Unified School District; Dallas Independent School District and Sewanhaka High School, Floral Park, N. Y.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK — One of the most fortunate boners ever pulled in the theatrical business sent Pat O'Brien to Hollywood about 70 pictures ago to play Hildy Johnson in "The Front Page," the Hecht and MacArthur smash which has been revived on Broadway by young Hunt Stromberg.
Everyone wondered why Warner Brothers took Pat to Hollywood when it was Lee Tracy, who played the original stage Hildy, who had excited the critics in the first place. Furthermore, Pat played the managing editor in the play, and not even in the first Broadway company, that role having been played by Osgood Perkins, who made so much of his part that veteran theater fans still are murmuring his praises.
Warners already had Adolphe Menjou for the managing editor, which even further confused the onlookers. And as it turned out, Warners hadn't wanted Pat in the first place; they wanted Tracy, but a secretary who got things snafued sent the wire to Pat O'Brien. And Pat, being a cagy fellow, didn't disillusion the Freres Warner until his big hit in the first film version made it safe to do so. When he finally fessed up, Jack and Harry Warner were sufficiently convinced of his boxoffice appeal to forgive him even if he'd wanted to take over the management.

VAL VALENTINOFF is a sky-scraping young fellow who does not look at all like one might expect a ballet dancer to appear, for he stands six-foot-three, weighs 210 pounds and from all outward appearances might seem to have been a fancy heavyweight in his recent past, which is exactly the case.
Val, finally has been discovered by Hollywood after lengthy stage appearances in "Follow The Girls" and "The Fortune Teller," and currently in the recently-premiered "Gypsy Lady." RKO says it will be okay for Val to keep on with his present stint for a while, but he'll be going to the coast within a couple of months to start his first movie, tentative title of which is "Varieties of 1947."

SO, HAVING amassed a comfortable reputation as a resourceful musical comedy and operetta leaper, with a fan club following and offers from all sides to appear in subsequent Broadway musicals, RKO has decided that the name of Val Valentinnoff is a little too top-heavy for picture purposes and has pleaded among the fans for a new name, which must be crisp and short but still romantic. It will be up to Val, with close supervision by some genius of nomenclature at the studio, what his new name will be. Frankly, Val likes his present tag, but — it's a living, you know.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES—A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS fires threaten this year to exact the greatest toll of lives and the greatest waste of material resources that our nation has ever experienced; and

WHEREAS this destruction is taking place at a time when the entire world is faced with distressing shortages of food and housing and nearly every commodity essential to speedy reconversion to a peace-time economy; and

WHEREAS the vast majority of destructive fires are preventable by the exercise of greater caution on the part of all our citizens:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week beginning October 6, 1946, as Fire Prevention Week.

I ask every citizen to do his part by learning how to detect and eliminate all possible causes of fires in his home and in his business, in order to safeguard both lives and property from the holocaust of fire. I also request that the state and local governments, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Fire Waste Council, business and labor organizations, the churches and schools, civic groups and the agencies of the press, the radio, and the motion-picture industry throughout the country cooperate fully in the observance of Fire Protection Week; and I direct that the appropriate agencies of the Federal Government likewise assist in arousing the public to the awareness of the dread threat of fires.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 3rd day of September [SEAL] in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-first.

The makers of Beltone, Dept. 3307, 1450 W. 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Foster Homes Sought

The Children's Aid Society has enlisted the aid of the Times-Mirror in its search for foster homes for eight small children, most of them girls, and all between the ages of three weeks and five years. The children are not available for adoption—they just need to be boarded temporarily with foster parents who can give them love and attention. The need of the society, a Community Chest agency, is urgent. Families who take one of the children for care will receive from the agency payment for board, clothing, medical care and other necessary expenses. Only homes in Warren county can be considered, it is stated, and children are always placed with foster parents of their same religious faith. Among the group are children who need to be the "only child" in a family for a little while, and there are others who need to learn to live with other children. One three-year-old girl needs to be built up physically and needs a home where people are able to give her love and affection, as well as good physical care. A nine-month-old baby boy sits up, laughs and is learning to walk. He needs a home with a "Mommy and Daddy." Application for one of these children may be made to the office of the Children's Aid Society, located on the third floor of the court house.

DUBOIS HIGH WINS AGAIN; WARREN PROS MAKE RECORD 4-1

AERIAL DEFENSE FAILS FOR BEAVERS; FEDERICCI INC. IS TOO MUCH FOR THE DRAGONS

The Warren High school Dragons, after making an attempt to outplay the DuBois Beavers on the ground, that failed miserably, took to the air towards the end of the first half and held their own, penetrating the Beaver skyline defense on times out of sixteen tries, but dropping the close fought battle, 20-0, on the DuBois High school field.

Dave Lopez and Bert Federicci battled it out for brokenfield running in the early phases of the game but big, rangy Beaver half-back finally won, Lopez going out of the game with an injured ankle.

Dave Bevevino came into the game in the second quarter and lost loose with a barrage of passes that brought the Dragons to the Beavers' twenty before the half ended. Four passes in five plays, all of them complete, served as he power to threaten the Black and White's goal line so closely.

Joe's Pop

Jeremiah Cronin, proud father of manager of Red Sox, arrives for World Series with delegation aboard "Joe Cronin Special." These happy rosters are from San Francisco, but with one of that city's favorite sons running show their hearts belong to Boston.

Sig Decker, Elmer Mellander, and Dix Schmiedel were pulling off tackles left and right while Elwood Beckwith, taking over at the end post since Don Kuhre's hand injury, showed up nicely.

Frankie Shanshala and Elmer Dutchess, both out of action because of muscle injuries, were dressed for the game but neither of them saw action, and it is still pending whether or not they will play in the Jamestown game.

Bert Federicci started the ball rolling for the first of his three touchdown tallies of the evening by running back Lopez's punt twenty-eight yards from his own forty-five. He promptly took the ball the remaining twenty-seven yards in the next play off right tackle followed by his perfect place-kick try for the extra point.

Both teams held tight for the rest of the first quarter and a large share of the second. Leonard and Lopez made some sizeable gains in the early frames but were slowed down by the DuBois forward wall.

The Beavers scored their second tally late in the second quarter when Moore, the DuBois center, recovered Fischer's blocked punt on the Warren eight. Federicci broke through the Warren line on the third running play after the recovery, the Dragons having held them for a two yard gain on the first play and a one yard loss on the second, to put the second tally in his credit. Federicci's placement was good for one point.

Dave Bevevino took over immediately after the kickoff following the score nad called for passes in five plays to bring the pigskin from the Warren 32 to the DuBois 25 yard line before the gun ended the half. Lane, Fischer, and Decker were the recipients of the aerials, Lane being good for two snatches but Fischer's accounting for 22 yards, the longest of the series.

The Beavers' third quarter scoring drive was far the most spectacular, scoring the tally in four running plays from their own 32 yard line, three of the plays being good for first downs. Federicci was good for 50 of the 68 yards gained on the march.

The Dragons worked the ball deep into enemy territory many times but each time they lost the ball through a fumble or an interception before they could score. The locals had no less than five fumbles and recovered only one of them while the Beavers fumbled three times but recovered all of their bobbles.

The Dragons will meet their annual enemy next Saturday afternoon on Russell Field in the form of the Jamestown Red Raiders. The Jamestowners were tied 6-6 by Dunkirk Friday night, another Warren-Youngsville upset, but will be out for blood, as usual, when they meet the Dragons for the yearly contest.

Rudy York's 375-Foot Home Run Blast In 10th Inning Gives Boston Series Opener

By JACK HAND
St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—One explosive home run blast off the bat of "The New" Rudy York has revived Boston talk of a four-straight sweep over the crafty St. Louis Cardinals in the 1946 World Series.

Not that Joe Cronin's Sox looked like a runaway fire engine in easing out a 3-2 edge over Howie Pollet in a tough 10-inning was a ball game the Cardinals easily could have won.

Pollet, pitching one of his best games of the year and outshining Tex Hughson despite an aching side, had come from behind and held a 2-1 lead, one strike away from that coveted first World Series win.

Then it happened. Tom McBride who had been unable to knock the ball out of the infield bounced a single between third and short, scoring Don Gutteridge with the tying run. Gutteridge was running for Punky Higgins whose easy grounder had squirted crazily through Marty Marion's legs for a single.

Earl Johnson, a battle of the bulge veteran, set down the Redbirds in order in the ninth and Pollet got past Dom DiMaggio and the much-feared Ted Williams in the tenth.

Two were gone and nobody on when York, enjoying a remarkable comeback, ruined a courageous pitching job by the Cards' 21-game winning ace with a 375-foot home run smash into the last row of the left field bleacher seats.

That was the ball game, for Johnson survived an error by Johnny Pesky to put down the Cards with the tying run on third base in the last of the tenth.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen is Manager Eddie Dyer's choice to face Boston today. Brecheen, a lefthander who won many of the Sox's "big" games down the stretch and saved the final play-off game in Brooklyn with a brilliant relief job, has won 15 and lost 15 for the National League champs.

Joe Cronin is also taking advantage of his one southpaw starter to spike the Cards' left-handed power in Sportsmans Park with its short right field wall. Mickey Harris, a native New Yorker who won 17 and lost nine for the Sox in the regular season, gets the call.

RED JACKETS DEFEAT NORTH TONAWANDA ELDRIDGE CLUB HERE FOR THE FIRST TIME

Warren football fans today hailed the Red Jackets for their play in performing a feat never before accomplished by a local pro eleven, winning from Eldridge club gridders, North Tonawanda, 7 to 0, in the Sunday game here on Russell field.

The local score, coming in the first quarter, proved sufficient a margin to finally break Tonawanda's streak over the Jackets, and the lone touchdown made possible Warren's third straight victory at home or four out of five for the season to date.

It was a banner crowd, too, all in shurtalives, that saw a fighting Eldridge club bow to a more powerful Jacket eleven, in another game plenty tough on the performers because of the extreme heat, a repetition of conditions in the opener, or perhaps hotter.

Warren's touchdown drive started almost with the whistle, and before the third exchange of punts, Martines receiving and going 12 yards to his own 43, and then going off tackle for 12 more to Eldridge's 45. Untereiner pushed through for 2 and John Bivona hit the line for 4 to their 39. Warme Check completed a dandy pass to Martines, to the 23. Another pass, Bivona to Johnny Imperial over the line added 7 yards.

Eldridge defense weathered a couple of line plays, at this stage, but Bivona made it a first down to the 12, and a penalty for off-side here brought the ball to the 5 yard marker where there was no stopping the Warren eleven, Martines going over from the 2 after Untereiner and Bivona had teamed up for 3 yards in two plays. Rosequist kicked perfectly for the extra point, and the final scoring.

Neither club threatened in the second quarter, Tonawanda opening up an aerial attack that was checked by the Warren pass defense, which was featured by the prettiest quick kick seen in a Jarvis game this year, Johnny Bivona getting one off for 56 yards, down to the Tonawanda 9 yard line, a play that drew a big hand from the fans.

With Frankie Funnair in the lineup at the start of the third quarter Warren's offensive stock was boosted considerably but Tonawanda proved a worthy foe, and battled the Jackets in almost even terms.

Both clubs, in the 4th, tried desperately for a hard-to-get touchdown but tight pass defenses were presented that made every attempt a failure as far as scoring was concerned. Interceptions came with regularity in this stanza but the pass snatchers were brought down in a hurry after landing the ball.

As far as spectacular runs were concerned they were almost entirely lacking but play did feature, in addition to Bivona's quick kick, some pretty defense work, with Warren players generally taking turns in breaking into the Tonawanda backyard to throw Eldridge boys for losses.

In the fumble recovery end of the game the Jackets got some dandy breaks, with Deets, Bailey, Frazier, Russo all recovering Tonawanda's fumbles.

Next Sunday the Jackets again are scheduled for the local gridiron, the Buffalo G. O. P. slated for opposition against Warren's unbeaten-at-home eleven.

Notes on the Game
Johnny Bivona received a bad gash over his left eye, in the fourth quarter and was forced to retire, Bill Graham taking over the fullback duties.

Willard Zerbe, Jacket guard, was on the sidelines, working the sticks. Zerbe was crippled from the rough Erie game Wednesday night but will be back in action by next Sunday.

Frank Funnair, the hard-to-tackle halfback, was late in getting to the game, arriving at halftime. He was in the starting lineup for the third quarter, and put in a good days work before the game was over.

For the second straight Sunday the visiting clubs failed to register a first down by rushing, Alquippi being blanked completely a week ago while Tonawanda, in getting five yesterday, got four through passes and the other via Warren penalty. Applause for the Jacket defense.

Reds have some deadly tacklers, with Frank Siranni and John Imperial perhaps heading the list of their best defense men. This boy Haines also showed the fans a dandy Sunday, breaking through to throw Fullback Paul for a heavy loss, in the 4th.

Another busy week for the Jackets, practice Tuesday, at Sharon Wednesday, another practice Friday, and the Sunday game here, with the Buffalo Republicans, a full slate.
